Fra Angelico

(1400-1455)

ILLUMINATIONS AND GOLD LEAF

As an Italian monk, Fra Giovanni Angelico da Fiesole (or Brother John of Fiesole) practiced the art of illumination and fresco painting in the monastery and later in the papal palaces. His paintings often depicted scenes from scripture with golden halos representing the heavenly bodies of the saints or angels he painted. These halos were often made with gold leaf, thin sheets of real gold metal which were adhered to the painting.
